Reference is made to my memorandum dated November 10, 1954, wherein information was set forth indicating the Central Intelligence Agency's (CIA) plans for the construction of a new building.

Attached hereto is an article which appeared in the Washington, D.C., "Evening Star" of March 8, 1955, announcing that the CIA proposes to build a $38,000,000 headquarters building which will house 8,000 to 10,000 persons at Langley in Fairfax County, Virginia. The article indicates that 100 acres now being used by the Bureau of Public Roads for highway research has been selected for the CIA office site. The location is not far from Chain Bridge on highway number 123.

RE: CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY
PLANS FOR A NEW BUILDING

With regard to the number of employees which will be housed in the new building, the newspaper article which reflects 8,000 is very likely exaggerating the number.

LANGLEY

Staff of 8,000 Will Be Housed In Big Building

Scattered Units Of Agency Will Be Put Under One Roof

By Mary Lou Werner

The Government's super-secret Central Intelligence Agency proposes to build a $38 million headquarters building which will house 8,000 to 10,000 persons at Langley in Fairfax County, Va., The Star learned today.

The mammoth installation—about one-third the size of the Pentagon—will consolidate the scattered offices of CIA in and around Washington.

One hundred acres that now serve the Bureau of Public Roads for highway research has been selected for the CIA office site, it was learned. The property is on Route 193—known as Old Georgetown pike—and stretches all the way to the Potomac River.

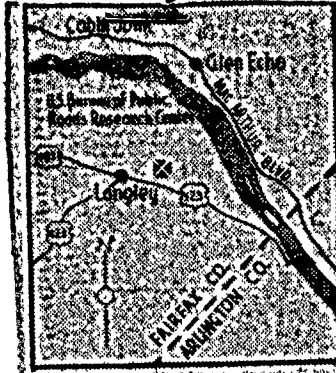

Hope for Start in April

Informed sources said CIA hoped to start construction in April. It is expected the project will take two years to complete. Fairfax County officials have been told that 8,000 persons will be employed at first and ultimately 10,000 persons will work there.

A spokesman for CIA said the agency was "very definitely" interested in the Langley site, but declared that plans to begin construction there still were not definite.

"Langley is one possibility," the spokesman said. "But we still do not have an appropriation or authority from Congress to go ahead."

The spokesman said CIA had been looking around for some time for a place to build a central headquarters and a number of sites have been considered. CIA declined to comment on the proposed size of the installation and the number of employees.

The work of CIA is so secret that its budget is not even disclosed to the public. The Bureau of Public Buildings is supposed to handle construction of the building.

Several Sites Considered

CIA's plans to locate somewhere in nearby Virginia has been kept a closely guarded secret by Government and local officials for two months. A number of sites were considered—including Hybla Valley and Springfield in Fairfax County and a large tract at Shirley Highway and Seminary road in Alexandria. The Langley site was selected because the property already is owned by the Government.

The Fairfax Board of County Supervisors at a recent conference with top-level Government officers approved the Langley location, and agreed to let the agency connect with a new sewage disposal plant, about to be built on Pottomac Run. It also was learned that Falls Church city officials have promised to st planned nearby. Now the only road to the site is the narrow Old Georgetown pike which hardly could be expected to handle the automobiles of so many employees. This problem of how soon better roads can be built has been entrusted to the Virginia State Highway Department.

The site is just a few miles west of Chain Bridge.

The site is in one of the most desirable residential sections of the county. There are numerous small estates nearby. Next to the site is the 500-acre Mackall estate which recently sold to a group of Texas oil millionaires who said they eventually planned to develop the land into a community of small estates.

No rezoning action is necessary to permit the CIA headquarters because the site is Federal property.

The Bureau of Public Roads which uses only a small part of the site for its experimental work, and employs about 300 people, plans to stay there.

extend municipal water service to the site.

Roads Are a Problem.

Some other problems remain to be ironed out. An important one is how soon CIA can expect highway improvements in the area. Eventually, the George Washington Memorial Parkway is to extend through the property and the Cabin John bridge is

In his column (attached hereto) of March 11, 1955, Drew Pearson wrote that Allen Dulles, Director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), "plans to bow out"; that he wants to give all of his time to his son who is not satisfactorily recovering from war wounds; that General Lucien K. Truscott is being groomed to take Dulles' place, and that for the time being the Director of CIA would be General Charles P. Cabell.

Information developed by Liaison Agent Papich fails to reflect any evidence that Dulles, on his own initiative, plans to leave CIA.

Synthetic Rubber Sales Criticized

By Drew Pearson

Some of the facts lurking in the background of our synthetic rubber situation don't look good.

Despite this, the Eisenhower Administration continues determined to turn the rubber factories, built at enormous expense to the taxpayer, over to the big rubber and oil companies.

Pearson

In fact, if Congress doesn't act, they automatically are sold on March 26.

Here are some of the disturbing facts which Congress ought to take a careful look at:

Low Stockpile—All Government press releases regarding synthetic rubber reserves have suddenly stopped. They used to be published once a month but none since January 20. Reason: The synthetic rubber reserve has dropped alarmingly. Though we're supposed to keep 60,000 tons on hand, today we have only 38,000 tons, which will drop to 28,000 by April 26. (The synthetic factories are to be sold on March 26, delivered April 26.)

Little Companies Squeezed—The rubber companies ordered a total of 61,000 tons of Government synthetic rubber for March, have other orders of 69,000 tons for April. Yet the factories will produce only 61,000 tons in March and 59,000 in April. On top of this, production will drop another 45,000 tons yearly after the factories are sold, because General Tire and Rubber hasn't made a deal with the Government to buy the Baytown, Tex., synthetic plant. This certain shortage means that little companies won't be able to buy after April.

Only 22 tire companies consume 72 percent of all synthetic rubber. Of these, the big four alone consume 60 percent. But there are scores of other companies needing rubber for other purposes which may not be able to buy it after April 26.

Bonanza for Big Business—Under the terms of the sale, private companies pay Uncle Sam 260 million dollars for the rubber factories. Meanwhile, the factories are making an annual profit averaging about 64 million dollars. This means that if the United States Government kept the plants and ran them for four years, it would make as much profit as the purchase price.

Another way of putting it: The big boys who are buying the factories pay for them out of profits. In the end the factories cost nothing. It's a good deal if you can get it, and the companies will have it on March 26—unless Congress acts.

"Uncle Sap"—Though the best rubber factories are being sold, "Uncle Sap" is keeping the most expensive to operate—at Institute, W. Va. This will be kept on a stand-by basis, because private industry won't buy it. In other words, the big boys are skimming the cream while Uncle Sap takes the curds.

Reds March On—Meanwhile, the march of communism into Southeast Asia, chief world source of natural rubber, continues.

Washington Whirl

Allen Dulles, efficient head of Central Intelligence and brother of the Secretary of State, plans to bow out. His hero son, terribly wounded in the Korean war, isn't recovering as hoped. Allen wants to give all his time to the boy... Gen. Lucien K. Truscott, now in Europe, has been groomed to take his place, though for the time being it will be Gen. Charles P. Cabel, a young Army officer of great promise... Stern Ellis Briggs will be the new United States Ambassador to Peru. He's served in the tough posts of Korea and Czechoslovakia, deserves a chance to relax in pleasant Peru. Probably, however, he won't. He's too serious... Harold Tittman, retiring United States Ambassador to Peru, turned out to be one of the most successful envoys we have sent there... Charles Mahaffie, one of the most respected men ever to serve on the Interstate Commerce Commission, has joined Max Gardner's law firm. Ike retired him from the ICC... Simultaneously, Ike pulled one law partner away from the same firm—Former Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky—who's going to India as Ambassador—one of the most difficult and important jobs in the diplomatic lineup.

Senate Is Checking CIA Work Closely, Russell Declares

By the Associated Press

Senator Bridges, Republican of New Hampshire said today that liaison between key Senators and the Central Intelligence Agency has "been spasmodic and I believe there should be a closer scrutiny than heretofore."

But all such contacts should be on a top-secret basis, said the senior Republican on the Armed Services Committee.

Chairman Russell, Democrat, of Georgia disclosed yesterday that the Senate Armed Services Committee has been checking on CIA operations since the outfit was authorized by Congress in 1947.

There have been suggestions in Congress, from Senator Mansfield, Democrat, of Montana, and others, that a special Senate-House committee be established to keep a continuing scrutiny in CIA operations, much as the Joint Atomic Energy Committee keeps watch on the Atomic Energy Commission.

Controls Maintained

Although the Public and even most members of Congress are unable to learn much about CIA, Senator Russell said, senior members of the Armed Services and Appropriations Committees "have not been kept in the dark."

"Every year we have gone into operations of the CIA," Senator Russell said. "The agency had not been operating without congressional contacts and controls."

Senator Saltonstall, Republican, of Massachusetts, former Armed Services chairman, confirmed that there had been unpublicized sessions with CIA Director Allen Dulles during the past several years.

"Dulles has never refused to answer any of our questions," he said. "In fact, he has encouraged some additional questioning."

To continue the CIA check during the next two years, Senator Russell named Senators Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia; Saltonstall and himself as a subcommittee.

Funds Kept Secret.

No report is made public on how much money CIA has to spend, how many persons it employs, or what it does. In the President's budget, CIA funds are provided in bits and pieces through other agencies. Senator McCarthy said last year he had evidence of "Communist infiltration" of the CIA and tried to bring some CIA employees before the Senate Investigations Subcommittee he then headed. Mr. Dulles refused to let his subordinates testify and termed the McCarthy charges "false."

Later, the White House announced that Lt. Gen. James Doolittle had made an inquiry into CIA operations and found them generally good. The Hoover Commission has started a survey under the supervision of retired Gen. Mark Clark.

Senator McCarthy announced recently that he had turned over his CIA data to Gen. Clark.

The device found on the above-described vessel consisted of a 2 inch cube bound by brown cord with apparently a lacquer or waterproofing finish on the outside. The cord was wrapped around a cardboard box made of two layers of paper. The powder was a typical flash powder composition consisting principally of aluminum metal and potassium chlorate. This powder upon ignition, when confined, explodes violently. It was not known if the powder was of foreign origin. The device contained a safety fuse which was approximately 2 1/2 inches in length and black in color. This fuse was unlike any manufactured in this country. It appeared to be typical of German construction. In order to set the device off, it would be necessary to ignite the safety fuse. The device was not equipped with any type of delay mechanism.

The construction of the entire device appeared to be identical to that of a signal bomb manufactured by the Germans during World War II.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON
MR. BOARDMAN
MR. BELMONT
MR. NICHOLS

In conference with the Attorney General last Friday, March 25, he informed me the President had advised him quite confidentially that in connection with CIA, a panel of outside responsible persons had been called in for a day and briefed, apparently by General Clark and maybe General Doolittle, as to what they had found concerning CIA and the panel reached the conclusion that CIA was doing satisfactory job.

The Attorney General stated the President had suggested to him the desirability of having such a panel called in and then briefed by the Attorney General and representatives of the Department of Justice on the Employee Security Program and at the end of the briefing, if the panel saw fit, it might make a finding that the Employee Security Program was being handled satisfactorily and fairly. The Attorney General inquired as to what I thought of this suggestion of the President. I told him I saw no basic objection to it provided there was great care exercised in the selection of a panel so as not to bring into it some "crackpots."

The Attorney General stated he had in mind such men as Cardinal Spellman and Rabbi Silver of Cleveland. I have asked Mr. Tolson to have a memorandum prepared for me on Rabbi Silver and also to have suggested to me the names of other outstanding persons who might be considered for inclusion on the panel since it is the intention of the Attorney General to confer with the Deputy Attorney General and myself shortly about the selection of such a panel and the setting up of such a briefing. In line with this matter there should, of course, be prepared for me a memorandum which I may use if called upon to appear before this briefing.

Very truly yours,

This included several officials, officers responsible for direction of CIA counterespionage operations at headquarters and in the field. Immediate reaction of CIA officials was that lecture was a most constructive presentation. No animosity shown toward Bureau. Evidence available so far indicates that lecture profitable to Bureau. Supervisors Whitson and Papich spent approximately 45 minutes answering questions. Audience was given every opportunity to ask any question and to present any complaints. All questions were answered in a straightforward, frank manner clearly explaining Bureau's position. There were no complaints. Type of questions presented indicates unbelievable ignorance of Bureau's jurisdiction and objectives among many CIA employees and even officials. Many of the people present at the lecture are not involved in day-to-day liaison with Bureau. Some of the more significant questions and their answers described herein.

ACTION:

The news of the Bureau lecture will undoubtedly be a topic of discussion within CIA for the next few days. The Liaison Agent will be alert for any comments and will report to the Bureau.

RE: CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY (CIA)
REQUEST FOR A BUREAU LECTURER

DETAILS:

On March 17, 1955, Supervisor Lish Whitson gave a lecture at the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) concerning the Bureau's responsibilities, jurisdiction and general objectives in the counterespionage field. The lecture followed the outline described in my memorandum of March 14, 1955, and was of one hour and thirty minutes duration. Another 45 minutes was spent in answering questions from the audience. Liaison Agent Papich joined Supervisor Whitson in the handling of these questions. There were approximately [] employees in attendance consisting of several CIA officials and officers responsible for the direction of CIA's counterespionage operations not only at headquarters but at various foreign stations. b3

The immediate reaction of the CIA officials after the lecture was that the lecture was a most constructive presentation. As brought out by the type of questions asked, it was quite evident that many CIA employees, including officials, have an almost unbelievable or distorted conception of Bureau jurisdiction and general objectives. This was primarily evidenced in questions asked by people who are not in day-to-day liaison with the Bureau. In addition, it was amazing to note that some of those present were even ignorant of some CIA jurisdiction.

Supervisor Whitson discussed several matters which have been sources of problems and even conflicts in the past. In each instance it was stressed to the CIA audience in detail exactly why the Bureau needed certain information and what the CIA could do to avoid problems in the future. Throughout the lecture and during the question period, it was reiterated several times to the audience that when the CIA was transmitting a request or was furnishing information which required Bureau action, it was of the utmost importance to furnish all possible details.

When the question period was initiated, it was made very clear to all present that Whitson and Papich would welcome any question whatsoever. In addition, the audience was frankly informed that if anyone had any complaints, suggestions or recommendations to speak up. Actually, the group was stunned and somewhat surprised at this challenge. No complaints were made. All of the questions were handled in a courteous and tactful fashion but definitely in a very straightforward manner. Every point that was explained to the audience was laid on the line free of any evasiveness. At no time was there any animosity shown toward the Bureau. With regard to the questions, all of them were answered to everybody's satisfaction. Every opportunity was given to amplify or repeat any question. Most of the questions were of a type the answer to which actually enhanced the Bureau's position. The first reactions received indicate that the entire lecture produced results beneficial to the Bureau's interests.

Some of the more significant questions which were asked and their answers are described herewith.

Question:

Why doesn't the Bureau permit CIA to disseminate more Bureau information to friendly foreign services (reference was being made to those cases where we have asked CIA to cover leads for us. CIA desires to make available certain information to foreign services for its assistance in covering the leads.)?

Answer:

If the impression has been gained by CIA that the Bureau is stingy with its information in such cases, it is very likely true. We first of all want to be certain that CIA has gone on record that the foreign service handling the lead is reliable, friendly and cooperative. Secondly, the Bureau will definitely not disseminate any information whatsoever if there is any indication that such dissemination might jeopardize the security of the country. The Bureau furthermore does not desire to make any information available to a foreign service unless there is some assurance that as much or more information will be received in return.

RE: CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY (CIA)
REQUEST FOR BUREAU LECTURER

Question:

What are the responsibilities and functions of a Legal Attache?

Answer:

The Legal Attache is a Bureau representative whose connection with the FBI is known to foreign authorities and who is assigned to a foreign country to follow Bureau matters in a strictly liaison capacity. The Legal Attaches are not engaged in the collection of foreign intelligence; the FBI has no such responsibilities.

Question:

Does the Bureau give the same kind of training to Agents handling criminal as to those handling counterespionage matters?

Answer:

New Agents entering the Bureau receive the same basic training. Subsequently, depending upon the nature of the work which they are handling, Agents will receive specialized training in their respective fields. (The above question may be predicated on an existing feeling within CIA that the FBI gives the same kind of training to all employees year in and year out regardless of the employee's assignment in the field.)

Question:

Quite often a foreign service requests information. The Bureau gives excellent cooperation but the Bureau requests that it not be identified as the source of the information. The CIA sometimes feels that if the Bureau were identified, the foreign service would be inclined to be more cooperative and even more enthusiastic in covering leads; the prestige and reputation of the FBI carries a lot of weight when dealing with foreign services.

Answer:

Unless we so specifically authorize, we do not wish to be identified as the source of the information. There is always the chance that information could be misused by a foreign service.

RE: CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY (CIA)
REQUEST FOR BUREAU LECTURER

If the Bureau were identified with such misuse, the U. S. Government would be the loser. We also realize that information may be given to a foreign service one year and the next year the same service is being directed by some politically corrupt individual who does not have the best interests of the United States at heart. If the foreign service requests you to specifically check with the FBI, we would like to be so informed.

Question:

Have you observed any evidence where a foreign service has played the FBI against the CIA or vice versa to achieve some end?

Answer:

We have not observed any evidence that a foreign service has been successful in duping our Legal Attaches in that regard. We have been most careful to alert our personnel to such possibilities and we expect you to accordingly assist us.

Question:

Why does the Bureau maintain a larger Legal Attache organization in Mexico than in other countries?

Answer:

Mexico, because of its proximity to the U.S., is unique in its interest to us. We are not only handling a vast number of leads in criminal cases which require coverage in Mexico, but we have found that the country is virtually a haven for subjects or associates of subjects in many of our security cases.

Question:

What action do you take concerning former members of friendly security services who come to the United States?

Answer:

All such individuals are liable to registration under the provisions of the Registration Act of 1938 as amended under the Internal Security Act of 1950.- It is possible that such individuals could be exempt from registration if exemption is certified by the Director of CIA. If not, such a person is liable to registration. The FBI may conduct investigation to determine the facts so that registration may be solicited. In connection with the investigation, it is possible that the FBI may even interrogate the individual. This depends upon the circumstances of the particular case.

Question:

An individual in Europe has been engaged in intelligence type of work for an emigre group. His work has been in the best interests of the United States. Is he subjected to the provisions of the Internal Security Act of 1950 when he enters this country?

Answer:

It will depend upon the facts of the particular case. The law indicates that a foreign government or a foreign political party should be involved. This does not mean that if an individual was not specifically connected with a foreign government or a political party he would not be subjected to the provisions of the referenced Act.

Question:

Why do you require so much detailed information from us concerning an alien who is coming to the United States. I am referring to a case where the individual has been used by a friendly foreign service and is involved in an espionage case in Europe the nature of which is of vital interest to the U.S.?

Answer:

An alien coming to the U.S. must enter in compliance with the laws of our country. If you feel that the handling of the alien's entry into the U.S., and his activities warrant special attention by us, we expect complete details free of double talk or evasiveness so that we can properly evaluate the matter. If the facts reflect that the entering alien should not be interrogated or contacted, the FBI, of course, will act in the best interests of the U.S. We expect you to get the full story from the foreign service. We will not work with skimpy information and if you do not give complete details, you very likely will find us taking action contrary to your wishes or hopes.

Question:

The Bureau has a Delimitations Agreement with some of the other agencies. Why isn't there such an agreement between the FBI and CIA?

Answer:

There is no Delimitations Agreement as such between CIA and the FBI but through the provisions of the National Security Act of 1947, the Directives of the National Security Council, and the jurisdiction imposed upon the Bureau by statutes, Presidential Orders, and instructions of the Attorney General, the areas of activity of the two agencies are quite well defined.

Your memorandum to Mr. Boardman dated March 21, 1955 (attached), sets forth the results of a lecture given by Supervisor Lish Whitson of the Espionage Section before a select group of officials of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). The lecture was followed by a question and answer period in which Supervisor Sam Papich of the Liaison Section participated. The handling of the lecture, and particularly the question and answer period was a very delicate matter in view of the relations between the FBI and CIA. To be able to adequately present a clear discussion to CIA personnel and at the same time forcefully but diplomatically state the Bureau's position in unequivocal language is most difficult and requires a skill which is highly commendable. The attached memorandum reflects that very pointed, direct questions were put to the Bureau's representatives and they were handled in such a manner as to reflect credit on the Agents and on the Bureau. The Director commented, "Very excellently handled by Whitson and Papich."

RECOMMENDATION:

In view of the above, and because of the trying circumstances under which this matter was so ably handled, it is recommended that letters of commendation be directed to Agents Lish Whitson and Sam Papich. If you concur, this memorandum should be referred to the Administrative Division for appropriate handling.

Reference is made to my memorandum dated March 22, 1955, wherein information was set forth indicating that General Clark was in the process of terminating discussions and interviews with Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) officials in connection with the survey which is being conducted of that Agency's operations.

Liaison Agent Papich has ascertained that on March 23, 1955, General Clark and members of his committee met with Allen Dulles and other CIA officials at which time a lengthy discussion was held concerning the findings made by the Clark task force. Agent Papich has not received all pertinent details concerning the meeting but he has been reliably informed that General Clark highlighted some criticisms of CIA operations and asked Dulles for his comments. Dulles allegedly stated that some of the criticisms were very justified. He further stated that other criticisms were without foundation and had been conveyed to the Clark task force with obvious malicious intent. General Clark then immediately stated "There must be a nigger in the woodpile" and asked Dulles for a clarification. Dulles replied "Let's face it. General Trudeau hates the CIA." All of this immediately precipitated a very heated discussion. General Christiansen, who heads the working committee of the Clark task force, came to Trudeau's defense. Admiral Richard Lansing Conolly, another member of the Clark task force, allegedly defended the CIA.

The complete results of the above-described conference are not known but from all indications the meeting was not conducted in a peaceful or friendly atmosphere. Furthermore, the activity in the meeting appears to indicate that relations between Dulles and Trudeau are far from friendly.

In my memorandum of March 22, 1955, I made reference to General Clark's interest in a possible interview with the Director. The Director's notation was "I would like to avoid Reference is made to previous memoranda submitted by the Liaison Section concerning General Mark Clark's interest in meeting with the Director. The Director has indicated that he would like to avoid any such meeting.

On March 25, 1955, General James George Christiansen, head of the working committee of the Clark task force which is surveying CIA operations, advised Liaison Agent Papich that General Clark desired to be informed if the Director could meet with members of the task force on either of the following dates: April 4, 5 or 6. Agent Papich immediately asked Christiansen why the Clark group desired to meet with the Director. Christiansen stated that Clark and other members of the staff desired to get Mr. Hoover's views on the general subject of U. S. counterintelligence. Agent Papich directed Christiansen's attention to the fact that on January 28, 1955, the Bureau provided a rather extensive briefing to the Clark group on the subject of U.S. counterintelligence and that it was most difficult to see what else could be added by Mr. Hoover; it was pointed out to Christiansen that the briefing given by the Bureau was prepared and given with the Director's full knowledge and in accordance with his personal views. Agent Papich specifically asked Christiansen if some new problem had arisen which necessitated Bureau attention and that if so the Bureau was ready to cooperate. Christiansen replied that there was no new problem; that the committee had been fully satisfied with the briefing given by the Bureau on January 28, 1955, but General Clark and other members of the group who had not been present at the January 28, 1955, meeting still wanted to listen to Mr. Hoover. After some probing, General Christiansen finally admitted that the Clark task force would not consider its work and report complete unless it could go on record that they personally had met with Mr. Hoover. Christiansen stated that the task force had already met with other top Government officials such as Secretary of Defense Wilson, Secretary of State Dulles, General Trudeau of G-2, and others. From the comments, Christiansen made it quite clear that the Clark task force was seeking prestige for its work through a meeting with the Director.

General Christiansen stated that if the Director agreed to meet with the Clark group, it would only be a matter of listening to Mr. Hoover's views on the general subject of counterintelligence. He stated that nobody had any questions concerning Bureau operations but it was possible some questions might be asked. In this connection, he inferred that somebody might ask Mr. Hoover for his opinion concerning some problem.

Agent Papich did not give Christiansen any encouragement whatsoever concerning a possible meeting between the Director and the Clark group. Since it was obvious that Christiansen was only carrying out orders for General Clark, it was deemed advisable to not get further involved with him concerning the instant matter.

ACTION:

The survey of CIA by the Clark group has developed into a messy situation involving a feud between CIA and G-2. There has been evidence of ill feeling and bickering between the CIA and General Clark. The entire atmosphere is such that any kind of a meeting with the Clark group at this time could place the Bureau "on the spot." If you approve, Agent Papich will advise General Christiansen that the Director's schedule will not permit him to meet with General Clark and his assistants on either April 4, 5 or 6. In the event any other date is suggested by Christiansen, the Liaison Agent will be guided by the Director's desire, namely, that he would like to avoid any meeting with the group.

The captioned individuals are clerical employees of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). Their duties for the most part consist of processing correspondence and communications between the CIA and the Bureau.

On April 18, 1955, [redacted] of the CIA, who is the supervisor of the captioned individuals, inquired if a routine tour of the Bureau could be arranged for the three girls. ACTION:

If you approve, a tour will be arranged for the three CIA employees for 2:30 P.M., April 25, 1955. A short tour of the Records Division will be included. These arrangements, if approved, will be confirmed via liaison channels.
